Epic

Build a site to sell your UX/UI design services

External user's goal:
Users are able to purchase graphical designs to address their needs

Site owner's goal:
Earn money for doing design work and possibly gather royals by advertising partners like adobe, 123rf etc.

Potential features to include (MVP):
Showcase prior work for clients, based on different kinds of requests, and the customer's testimonials.

Allow users to order a particular graphic or service to suit their goals. The user would fill out a form describing their needs, including fields such as type (e.g. icon, logo, poster), size and description, get an automatic quote and then pay. You may want to include a javascript calculator to display a preview of the quote, but make sure that the final price is determined on the server, and cannot be manipulated directly by the user.

The site owner, logging in as a special user, would be able to see a list of all orders, and then upload their completed work which would be made available to the customer.

Additional (nice-to-have):
The customer then has the option to either accept the result, or request a round of changes.

Once the customer accepts, they would write a testimonial and the final graphic would be automatically included in the site's showcase.

Build a custom js display mechanism for the gallery page - e.g. your own unique kind of carousel.
